POWERS UNITE TO BAN FRANCO

Question of Backing Exiled Spaniards Troubles Plan of Three Nations.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 2 — Britain, France and the United States pressed today for final agreement on a joint declaration encouraging Spaniards to overthrow Generalissimo Franco. But the question was: which Spaniards?

Diplomatic representatives of the three powers were intent on getting the proposed pronouncement ready for public release this week-end, but France and the United States were reported split on the issue of what elements to address.

Report Approval

Earlier, the state department confirmed that Britain and France had "approved in principle" the U. S. proposed declaration reliably reported as spurring Spaniards to set up an interim government pledged to:

1. Calling national elections.
2. Declaring political amnesty.
3. Providing freedom of religion, assembly, and press.

In return, the new government would receive full economic and diplomatic recognition by the three powers.

Differences between the French and U. S. viewpoints were reported hinging on a description of the Spaniards to whom the declaration would be aimed. At present, it was learned, the American proposal is addressed to the Spanish people "inside or outside the (Spanish) government."

France Wants Change

If that applies only to Spaniards within Spain, thus excluding the Spanish Republican government-in-exile, then France, it was learned, wants the phraseology changed to read "inside and outside Spain."

France now harbors a reported 250,000 Spanish Republicans under an elected Premier Dr. Jose Giral.

Hoover Pleads for Food Slash

Name Ex-President Honorary Chairman of Truman's Famine Program.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 2—The only living former President of the United States appealed today for closer regulation of eating in this country as a means of heading off starvation abroad.

Herbert Clark Hoover the nation's Chief Executive from 1929 until 1933, declared the nation needs a "real food administrator."

He made plain in an interview that in his opinion Secretary of Agriculture Anderson should have more power to prevent feeding of wheat to live stock when hungry people abroad could use it.

"Incorrect price differentials" set up by OPA led to this situation, Mr. Hoover said soon after he had been designated honorary chairman of President Truman's "famine emergency committee."

Chester Davis, former food administrator in this war as Mr. Hoover was in the last, was named chairman of the group after a conference with Mr. Truman yesterday.

The agriculture department furnished figures showing that there must be a reduction of 25 per cent in domestic wheat consumption to rescue millions in Europe and Asia from famine.

Six Guesses Helped Spell Hitler Doom, Files Reveal

By The Associated Press

NUERNBERG, Germany, March 2— Top secret reports taken from files of German ministries now in Allied hands disclose that Adolf Hitler made six guesses in one month — November, 1942—that helped to turn the tide of war in favor of Great Britain and the United States.

Confronted with the fact that Gen. Eisenhower's forces had landed in Algeria and Morocco Nov. 8, 1942, Hitler's vaunted intuition failed him. A record of his faulty guessing follows.

1. He frantically alerted the German garrison in Norway—two seas and a continent away from Africa—to expect an imminet allied attack.

2. At the same time the former corporal, functioning as supreme commander of the German army, envisaged an immediate Allied strike toward the Romanian oil fields.

Ignores Rommel

Hitler ordered more German troops sent to Crete and the Peloponnesus and additional air force squadrons assigned there. This was at the time that Field Marshal Erwin Rommel was fleeing from El Alamein and needed reserves much worse than any Nazi commander on Crete.

3. Disregarding his highest naval advisers, Hitler refused to negotiate with the Vichy French fleet at Toulon for future collaboration on a new basis of equality. Although Grand Adm. Erich Raeder painstakingly had sought to arrange for French warships and French crews to join in the Axis sea war and had obtained tentative agreement and joint acceptance from the Italian admiralty, Hitler threw this deal overboard.

In the end the French fleet scuttled itself.

4. Hitler dallied with a plan he had prepared two years earlier; the occupation of Spain and the closing of the western Mediterranean at Gibraltar. He informed the German army the time was ripe for action, but first he would have to negotiate with Franco. Then he did nothing more.

Had Invasion Jitters

5. Seeing the specter of invasion virtually everywhere, he looked along the coastline of German-occupied Europe and decided to dismantle guns from

REWARD SET IN TEACHER CASE

Two Italian-American Groups Aid in Search for Missing Logan Co. Instructor.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 2—Two Italian - American organizations today offered rewards for information leading to the whereabouts of Lola Celli, 24-year-old teacher missing since last Saturday, as police expressed belief she met with foul play.

They discount a theory that she was an amnesia victim.

Grandview Heights Police Chief Robert Livingston said police now believe Miss Celli either met "foul play," or that she was "not around Columbus." Miss Celli's family expressed fear that she was kidnaped after leaving home for a shopping trip downtown. A high school teacher at West Mansfield, Logan County, she was home on a visit.

The Nick Caruso Post of the Italian-American World War Veterans posted $50 for information leading to Miss Celli's whereabouts and Club 26, an organization of Italian-American business and professional men, offered $25.

False Reports Made

Livingston said a number of erroneous reports that the teacher's body had been found were hampering the search and that all leads had been inconclusive.

Columbus police are expected to be asked officially by Grandview Heights to conduct a separate investigation in the mysterious disappearance of 24-year-old Lola Celli a week ago.

Livingston and Patrolman Frank Neff, with other members of the small department, have been carrying on normal duties in addition to the search.

Every clue and telephone call has resulted in a futile search.

While Columbus police have been asked to be on the lookout for Miss Celli, they have not been called on for the "pick and shovel" work such an investigation requires.

When they enter the case they will start from the beginning, when Miss Celli left her home about 10:30 a. m. last Saturday.

Here for a visit over Washington's birthday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Celli, Miss Celli left the residence at 1783 W. Third avenue for a bus at Cambridge boulevard and W. Third avenue.

She was enroute to a downtown store to open a charge account, and investigation by Chief Livingston revealed she never reached the store, nor did she board a bus.

Handkerchiefs Out

Her brother, Felice Celli, a chemical research engineer at Ohio State university, stated his sister "was in perfect health" when she disappeared, and asserted the family believes she was "abducted."

Handkerchiefs found by a posse were not connected with the case.

"We never saw those handkerchiefs before," Felice Celli said.

REDS REBUKED FOR FIRING ON NAVY PLANES

Navy Calls Incidents "Unjustifiable"; State Dept. Denies Secret Agreements.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 2—The United States told Russia off today for two Soviet attacks on Navy planes off the Manchurian coast and for the Red army's removal of Manchuria's industrial equipment.

The two-play protest provided an unexpected follow-up to the speech of Secretary of State Byrnes Thursday foreshadowing a much tougher approach in future dealings with Moscow.

The Navy's protest coincided with a state department declaration that Russia had no right under any Allied agreement to strip industrial equipment from the former Japanese puppet state of Manchuria.

The attacks on American planes both were reported to have taken place in the Port Arthur-Dairen area, and the Navy pointed out that under the Russo-Chinese treaty of last August Dairen is supposed to be a free port, open to all nations, but administered by China.

According to the Navy, the first Soviet attack on a U. S. plane in this area took place last October, and the second last month.

When the first incident was protested, the Navy said, Russian authorities replied the Soviets were responsible for defense of the Port Arthur area under the treaty with China and that American planes must not approach within 12 miles of the coast without previous permission.

The Navy rejected this reply, pointing out that the American plane was 55 miles at sea when fired on by Soviet aircraft, and that Russia had never notified the United States it intended to apply a 12-mile limit in Soviet-occupied territory. Moscow never answered this protest.

The Navy characterized this incident as a "hostile act."

The second episode occurred Feb. 20 when two Russian fighter planes overtook another Mariner near Dairen and gave warning bursts of machine gun fire for about ten minutes.

The Navy declared Russian action in this case was unjustifiable," but acknowledged the American plane's pilot had disregarded orders. Disciplinary action has been instituted against the pilot, the Navy said.

The specific reason for the state department's broadside against Soviet removal of industrial equipment from Manchuria was not indicated. It did follow closely after the assertion of a Red army commander at Mukden this week that the equipment was being removed in accord with a Big Three agreement.

The state department said flatly "the United States has no agreement, secret or otherwise, with the Soviet government in regard to war booty in Manchuria."

Reported Killed

Staff Sgt. Perry B. Cartwright, 27, above, of Marion, was recently officially declared dead as of June 20, 1944. The word was received in a telegram from the war department by his wife, Mrs. Betty G. Cartwright of Santa Rosa, Calif., who notified her parents here, Mr. and Mrs. Ray W. Wilson of 505 Blaine avenue. A member of a crew of a B-25 Mitchell bomber, he was previously reported missing on that date. His parents live in Baltimore, Md., and his grandparents, Rev. and Mrs. F. T. Cartwright, reside in Delaware. Before entering the service he was employed with the Erie Railroad Co. An account of his death appeared in The Star Feb. 19.

RED TROOPS START MOVING FROM IRAN

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, March 2—Red Army troops were reported withdrawing from three districts of eastern Iran today—the deadline for their departure under terms of a Big Three agreement with the Iranian government — but were remaining in other areas until the situation is "cleared up."

The Soviet press and radio made no comment on the matter, other than an announcement yesterday that withdrawal would start today from those parts of Iran "which are undisturbed."

Meanwhile, conversations between the Russians and Ahmed Qavam Es Saltaneh, Iran's premier, continued in Moscow.

British, Russian and United States troops were sent to Iran in 1941 to protect Russia's southern supply route.

REFRIGERATOR CARS ON ERIE DERAILED

29 Leave Tracks Near Hepburn; Food, Wine Spilled.

Fresh meat, wine and canned foods were spilled on the Erie railroad tracks six miles east of Kenton near Hepburn today at 8:30 a. m. when 29 cars of an eastbound refrigerator express were derailed.

Four of the cars contained fresh meat, one was loaded with gallon jars of wine, and the others had canned goods. The produce was scattered along 300 to 400 yards beside the main line. Crews of workmen were stacking the merchandise along the right-of-way today but it did not appear that the track would be clear until Sunday. In the meantime, Erie railroad officials said, trains are moving over the New York Central tracks.

No one was injured, the engine staying on the track. Cause of the wreck has not yet been announced by the railroad company.

Pauley Still Cool To Withdrawal Demands

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 2—Edwin W. Pauley flatly refused again today to quit his fight for confirmation as undersecretary of the Navy, although Democratic leaders said they expected his name to be withdrawn.

Pauley was reported unyielding under pleas by administration lieutenants that he pull out of the fight, and he gave no encouragement to proposals that he arrange a recall of his nomination before hearings on his qualifications resume next Wednesday.

In fact, he told reporters that after a conference with Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan, at which Pauley said they discussed "votes in the senate," he felt his chances for confirmation were "better than ever."

Break Is Seen for Fabricating Plants in Ohio

New U. S. Price Action Clears Way for Steel Peace; 3 Plants Sign.

By The Associated Press

A break in the six-weeks strike affecting Ohio's steel fabricating plants appeared imminent today with settlement of three disputes with the CIO United Steelworkers and a prediction that other agreements would follow.

A new one-year contract between the Jaeger Machine Co. of Columbus and the USW was reported after last night's Washington announcement that the government had adjusted prices for steel users.

Jaeger and union officials said their agreement included an increase in the basic wage rate plus a production bonus, granting 620 employes an overall boost which exceeded the union's original 18½ cents an hour demand

More Due To Sign

Eight Columbus fabricators are expected to sign up soon.

A five-day strike of 250 United Steelworkers at the Ladel Conveyor & Manufacturing Co. of New Philadelphia likewise ended yesterday with a wage boost of 18½ cents an hour.

President Joseph H. Montgomery Jr. of the Empire Sheet and Tinplate Corp., at Mansfield announced settlement of a 40-day strike affecting 1,000 CIO steel workers after acceptance of an 18½ cents an hour pay hike.

Violence marred talk of settlement at Timken's Columbus branch as James B. Roberson, a non-union employe charged in an affidavit that he had been beaten as he sought to return to work last Monday.

A twice-wounded veteran of World War II, Roberson accused Forrest M. Morlan and Roy T. Hickman and "about a dozen other pickets" of jumping him when he passed through a picket line. The unionists, pleading innocent, declined comment on the incident.

Company and union officials at Canton indicated negotiations would be resumed Monday after G. H. Turner, Timken labor relations supervisor proposed a meeting with I. W. Abel, USW district

Pollak Steel Wage Parley Held Today

A wage conference at the Pollak Steel plant this morning was the only development in the Marion strike picture as the week ended.

The conference, in fact, was one of the few developments this week as both labor and management appeared to be marking time in the strikes that have made three Marion plants idle since Jan. 20.

Last Monday Marion Steam Shovel Co. officials and representatives of local 1949 met at company offices to resume negotiations. No progress was reported and since then no meetings have been held. Union officials today said no meetings are now scheduled.

Officials of local 1947 said today there still was no developments in the Alloy Cast Steel Co. strike. They reported no wage negotiations have been held and added that none are scheduled.

MINE LEADER CALLS PARLEY FOR MARCH 12

Asks Soft Coal Operators To Discuss Wages In Light of Truman Policy.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 2 — UMW Chieftain John L. Lewis today filed on behalf of some 400,000 miners a 30-day strike notice.

Simultaneously, Lewis notified bituminous coal operators that he wished to reopen wage talks with them on March 12 in Washington.

The United Mine Workers' strike notice was filed with the National Labor Relations board, Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach and the Wage Stabilization Board.

Lewis said the miners "will continue to work for the ensuing 30 days."

His letter to the three government agencies declared that the issues in dispute between the UMW and the coal operators covered wages, the question of whether supervisory employes could belong to the UMW, working hours and other matters.

Cites New Policy

Lewis said further that the administration's new wage-price policy had resulted in a "significant change" in government wage policy and that under the UWM contract, the wage issue could be reopened.

"This letter is now directed to you as formal notice that a labor dispute exists * * * between the United Mine Workers of America and the bituminous coal operators of this country," Lewis wrote.

The notification to the operators concerning wage talks was sent to Ezra Van Horn, chairman of the operators' negotiating committee of the National Bituminus Coal Wage Conference in Cleveland.

Lewis added that he would "be gratified to receive prompt acquiescence" with the request for the conference.

In filing his strike notice, Lewis questioned whether or not such a 30-day delay now was necessary under the War Labor Disputes Act. However, he said, "since the act (War Labor Disputes Act) still lies heavily upon the statute books, the United Mine Works of America are desirous of meeting all of its requirements."

Lewis asserted the present coal wage contract could be terminated as of midnight March 31.

Written in Contract

The contract provides that, at any time after March 1, 1946, either contracting party may give 10 days notice of a desire to reopen contract negotiations, the other party to the contract agrees to attend such a conference.

The negotiations would continue for 10 days and, if agreed upon, could continue longer. However, if at the end of the 15 days no agreement appeared in prospect, either party could serve notice that the contract would be terminated five days from the receipt of such notice.

Reopening of the wage question in the coal industry had been forecast since Lewis several days ago called a meeting in Washington March 11 for his 200-member wage policy committee.

Auto and Electrical Strikes Darkest Spots in U. S. Picture

By The Associated Press

Two major strikes accounted for nearly one half of the nation's 800,000 idle because of labor disputes today as a survey disclosed a decrease of nearly a million since the near all-time high in late January.

The principal work stoppages involved some 200,000 workers at General Motors plants and about 175,000 CIO electrical workers at General Electric and Westinghouse plants.

CIO United Auto Leaders in Detroit said the 102-day walkout at General Motors, despite recent hopes of settlement, would last "until GM meets its public responsibility."

Proposal Rejected

The statement followed rejection by the 200-man CIO-UAW GM council of the corporation's "maximum proposal to date," stating it "failed to meet the standards set by the recommendations of the President's fact-finding board." The council did not disclose details, but a union leader listed four issues, including wages, as unsettled.

UAW-CIO officials planned another meeting today with representatives of management and Federal Mediator James F. Dewey.

Issues listed by UAW Vice President Walter P. Reuther as holding up agreement from the union's standpoint included seniority in promotions and transfers, union security, wages, and local demands. The union held to its demands for a 19½ cent hourly increase, which was the figure set by the federal fact finding board, while the corporation's best offer has been 18½ cents.

There were no indications of settlement of the strike by CIO

New Soviet Agency Won't Say If News Is Being Censored

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, March 2—The chief of "Glavlit"—the Soviet administration for affairs of literature and publication newly charged with handling news dispatches for foreign countries from the U.S.S.R.—declines to say whether the dispatches are being censored.

He declares that the stories are being moved immediately upon receipt.

The new system of transmitting dispatches abroad began yesterday. Formerly, foreign correspondents submitted their stories to the censorship bureau of the Soviet foreign office. Now they submit them to "Glavlit."

The system may be helpful to the correspondents from one standpoint. Formerly they had to take their stories to the censor, then they had to take them to the postoffice where they were filed for transmission. The censor's office was a bottleneck and it usually required about an hour to get a story through there.

"Glavlit" is an old organization accustomed to handling affairs relating to Soviet newspapers, magazines, and books and should be geared to handle the correspondents' stories.

For about a month last fall foreign correspondents' stories left Moscow without any deletions or stoppages in what apparently was a lifting of censorship. When the big three foreign ministers met here, however, censorship was restored.

Mrs. Baker has been employed at the O. M. Scott and Sons Co. at Marysville for the past four years. Mr. Baker was recently discharged from the Army after serving overseas. He was a corporal when discharged. The couple are making their home on a farm near Richwood.

Hughes of 898 Nord Main street. The ceremony will be read Sunday afternoon, March 10, at 3:30 o'clock in the Emmanuel Baptist church. The custom of open church will be observed.

Miss Quick is a graduate of Harding High school with the class of 1943 and at present is employed as a bookkeeper-accountant at the Marion Steam Shovel Co. Mr. Hughes a graduate of Harding High school in 1941, recently received his discharge from the Army after serving three years, 30 months of which was spent in the European theater. A Officials Recommend Ohio Routes To Include Marion

.: Counsel Albert F. Grisard and Frederick Davis, of aeronautics board have recommended that Trans Ohio Inc., be granted a 1,400 mile airline system serving the Ohio In their recommendation dated February 20, 1946, nio Airlines Inc. was recommended to serve 26 cities in cluding Marion, and the ..t cities of Wheeling, burg and Huntington, W.

.. that a study of the ..tation needs of Ohio indi- .. many of the communi- ..ded service to the prin- .. Ohio and to each other .. such service was needed .. in a North-South direc- .. Counsel recommended .. service over the follow- ..es be authorized:

1: Between the termin- ..eis, and Huntington, W. .. the intermediate points .. Lima, Piqua, Springfield, .. Middletown and/or Ham- ..cinnati and Portsmouth.

2. Between the termin- ..eis and Huntington, W. .. the intermediate points Sandusky, Tiffin, Marion, Columbus, Lancaster, and Chillicothe.

Route 3: Between the terminals Cleveland and Cincinnati, via the intermediate points Wooster, Mansfield, Mt. Vernon, Columbus, Springfield, Dayton and either Middletown or Hamilton.

Route 4: Between the terminals Cleveland and Huntington, W. Va., via the intermediate points Canton, Steubenville, Wheeling and Parkersburg, W. Va.

Route 5: Between the terminals Columbus, Ohio, and Wheeling, West Virginia, via the intermediate points Newark, Zanesville, and Cambridge, Ohio.

Route 6: Between the terminals Findlay and Cleveland, via the intermediate points Tiffin, Sandusky, and Lorain.

Public counsel pointed out that the routes would give practically every city in Ohio of substantial population a local air service to such important trade centers and airline connecting points as Toledo, Cleveland, Dayton, Cincinnati, and Columbus. In recommending Trans Ohio Airlines, Inc. over several other applicants, Public counsel stated that the proposal of Trans Ohio represented, in their opinion, an outstanding job of route planning for the state of Ohio.

Trans Ohio Airlines, Inc. was organized by A. E. and C. E. Knowlton, well known construction engineers who operate the Knowlton Construction Co. at Bellefontaine. Among their associates in Trans Ohio Airlines, Inc. are L. E. Boisel, R. B. Vaughn, and James H. Goetz. Mr. Vaughn is well known in aviation circles throughout the state having operated the airports at Springfield, Findlay and Bowling Green. Mr. Goetz was formerly with American Airlines and TWA.

The recommendation of Public counsel will be considered by the Civil Aeronautics Board and the Boards final determination may be expected within the next few months.

Vets Get Preference on Farm Machinery

Preference certificatesc for farm machinery have been issued to 260 Marion county veterans discharged from the armed forces, according to a report from the office of Frank G. Montgomery, county AAA chairman.

Any veterans who owns or operates a farm may apply for any item of new farm machinery for the purpose of establishing or reestablishing himself as a farmer, the county AAA chairman pointed out. Immediate need and extent of farming operations determine the kind and volume of farm machinery for which the certificate can be issued.

Germony 'Kaput' but Writer Sees Need for Caution

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP World Traveler

FRANKFURT, Germany, March 2—The devastation wrought by total war in Germany's cities is so terrific that you have to pick your way carefully among the ruins lest your view of more important things be cut off, and so this looks like a good point to check up on the outstanding points of our tour in the occupied zones of the defeated Reich.

DewittMackenzie

I suppose we should start with the observation that Germany is so badly smashed that she would be physically incapable of making war again for many years even if she were allowed to go her own way unhampered. The German has an expressive word for anything which is smashed and that is "kaput." Well, Germany is kaput physically and no mistake about that.

However, the very fact that the Reich is kaput creates a grave danger for the United Nations. This is that the Allies may be lulled into a feeling of false security and relax their avowed determination to sit on the lid in Germany until it is clear that its people have been reformed.

Germany is militarily impotent. The experts say it will take thirty years to clear away the rubble of the destroyed cities, to say nothing of trying to rebuild. But there is small doubt that while the Germans are beaten physically they aren't beaten mentally, and that their transformation into a peace minded people will involve a very long period of re-education and military occupation.

Another Point

There is another equally vital point. The peace of Europe does not necessarily depend on German mentality. Germany is strategically the heart of the continent, not only militarily but politically. Should the Reich become the battleground to determine the balance of power in Europe—which heaven forbid—we should have a situation which might easily produce another upheaval.

This danger is emphasized, as reported in yesterday's column, by a spirit of uncertainty in the American zone—a feeling that the United States public is weakening in its determination to occupy Germany militarily until time has established peace in Europe. That's a frightening thought.

The wholesale readjustment of the balance of power as Europe has cast Uncle Sam in the role of friendly mediator between Russia and Britain. Should American public opinion result in our abandonment of the original plan of occupation in Germany, it would create a vacuum in the Reich that would necessarily be filled by another power and that would produce a whirlwind.

As to the general situation in Germany, things are improving. There are three main bottlenecks in the rehabilitation program — food, coal and transport. Encouraging progress is being made in the case of the later two although conditions told are appalling. There is a serious shortage of food in many areas of the four Allied zones of occupation.

Much Illness Noted

There is much illness and in some sections there have been epidemics or are threats of them. Things may get worse before they get better in the matter of food, for there is a great shortage of fertilizer in the country as well as seed and farm machinery.

It is incongruous to see the Germans going about wearing far better clothes than the folk in the countries which were occupied or even in England.

The Hitlerite military stripped most of the conquered countries and sent home so much wearing apparel that many German families have enough fine things to last for years.

You see fur coats and silks on people living among the ruins.

Progress also is being made in denazifying Germany and in getting democratic institutions under way. Among other things the schools have been purged and the little folk no longer are being taught Nazism and militarism in the classroom. What they may still be caught at home by Nazi mindbe taught at home by Nazi mindquestion.

A point which stands out clearly as a warning to the Allies is that while the German people are chastened by their beatings, their natures haven't yet been changed. Reeducation and moral rearmament are the only things which will change that.

Thieves Here Favor Hard To Get Items

Thieves with eyes for hard-to-purchase items broke into the home of Mrs. Ethel Haines of 127 Lincoln avenue Friday night about 8 p. m. and took off with an alarm clock, a pair of woman's hose, an antique bracelet 125 years old, and several pieces of costume jewelry, police reported today. The discerning intruders overlooked her nylons, though, Mrs. Haines said.

Mrs. Haines told police she discovered the burglary when she returned from a shopping tour with two friends last night. The house had been thoroughly ransacked; desk and bureau drawers had been pulled out and the thieves had turned off the refrigerator, presumably so they would be able to hear anyone's approach. They left a half consumed bottle of milk behind. Mrs. Haines said she had been gone only one hour and suspects the thieves had been watching her house. They gained entrance through an unlocked window on the back porch.

Lausche's Primary Opponent Resents Governor's "Snub"

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 2—Joseph Torok Jr. today wanted to know if Gov. Frank J. Lausche were "snubbing the Democratic voters of Ohio" in his announced plans to abstain from campaigning for renomination.

"Or is it because I am just a grocery clerk?'." asked Torok, the governor's sole opposition in the coming May primaries.

"My opponent, the present governor," the Youngstown candidate for nomination said, "has announced that he will not campaign for the May primary nomination.

"Is this a new gesture of the governor snubbing the Democratic voters of Ohio or is it because Torok is just a grocery clerk?

"Torok will campaign, Torok will visit every county in the state, because Torok wants to be governor of Ohio."

Karl Doenitz's wolf packs, but to experiment with "U-boat transports." He explained he was considering the advisability of taking Iceland away from the Americans for a German air base. He said U-boat transports would be feasible for carrying a German invasion force on such a mission and could be used as commercial blockade runners with essential cargoes.

Top-Ranking Brass Put In for Seats at Atom Bomb Test

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 2—The biggest brass plan to witness the forthcoming test of the atom bomb against seapower in the Pacific.

It was learned today that three of the four members of the joint chiefs of staff will attend the experiments at Bikini atoll, with the idea of making a first-hand estimate of the A-bomb's effect on existing armaments and strategy.

General Dwight Eisenhower, Army chief of staff, has announced he would observe the tests. Aides of Admiral Chester Nimitz, chief of naval operations, said he was planning to attend and the same viewpoint came from Carl Spaatz, commander of Army Air Forces.

However, at the White House it was said that Admiral William D. Leahy, presidential military-naval adviser and fourth member of the joint chiefs of staff, probably would not go to Bikini. Officials said they knew of no plans for President Truman to make the long trip to the central Pacific.

Vice Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, commander of the joint task force for the test, took occasion at a news conference last night to make two points:

1—The test of the bomb on warships, aircraft and army ground force equipment is a "thoroughly joint" job, with all services participating.

2—"There is not any desire to rig this test to favor particularly the bomb, the ships or aircraft."

STRIKES

electrical workers, which started Jan. 15, but there were hopes of peace in Philadelphia after violence and disorder this week at the General Electric plant. Yesterday, for the first time in three days there was no violence and for the first time this week the strikers made no attempt to violate an injunction banning mass picketing at the plant.

Will See U. S. Official

In New York, Albert C. Fitzgerald, president of the CIO electrical workers union, said he would meet Monday in Washington with U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark to demand "immediate action" to prevent General Electric and Westinghouse from "fomenting strife and violence in community after community."

In reply, GE President C. E. Wilson charged union leaders with "inciting rioting and demonstrations" in defiance of court orders and said "the issue now is plainly law and order or anarchy."

The threatened strike next Tuesday of 3,400 employes of the Duquesne Light Co. in Pittsburgh, cutting off power to some 1,500,000 citizens, was averted when the independent union voted for arbitration of their wage dispute. The union is seeking wage increases of 21 cents and 25 cents hourly. Three arbiters will begin hearing evidence in the dispute on March 16.

Milk Strike Settled

In Detroit, a 10-day work stoppage of CIO dairy workers which cut off 60 per cent of the city's milk supply, was settled subject to ratification of the strikers. Union representatives agreed to accept an hourly wage hike of 18 cents for the 1,000 strikers. The strikers, who has asked 20 cents, had been joined by about 2,400 drivers in a sympathy walkout.

A strike scheduled to start Monday by 27,000 employes of six Allis-Chalmers plants was postponed for one week, Robert Buse, president of Local 248, UAW-CIO in Milwaukee announced. He said the union was to consider a company offer of 13½ cents an hour wage boost.

MOTHER CHARGED IN HERO SON'S SLAYING

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, March 2 — A tearful mother today was charged with manslaughter in connection with the slaying of her war hero son during a breakfast table quarrel.

Mayor Joseph E. Ellert of suburban St. Bernard filed the charge against Mrs. Frank Hermann, 43, last night after James Marsh, 24, awarded the Silver Star while serving with the 339th Infantry Regiment in Italy, died of two bullet wounds.

Mrs. Hermann, who was released on $1,000 bond, admitted the shooting, St. Bernard Police Chief William Murphy reported, but insisted it was in self defense after her son abused and threatened her.

Her husband, a St. Bernard councilman, reported his wife was under physician's care at their home, which they had shared with young Marsh and his 17-year-old bride, Dorothy.

Hermann said his stepson had been morose and quarrelsome since his discharge from the Army last December.

Yesterday morning, the police officer said, Mrs. Hermann and her son quarreled. He reported she gave this account of the actual shooting:

The son interrupted the heated conversation to go to another room, returning with a souvenir German automatic pistol in his pocket, she then went to a bedroom, got a pistol and fired twice at her son, who slumped from his chair crying:

"Oh, Mom!"

SPAIN BLAMES REDS IN BORDER CLOSING

By The Associated Press

MADRID, March 2 — The Franco government declared today that the closing of the Spanish frontier by France and anti-Spanish demonstrations abroad were part of an international Communist plot designed to drag Spain "down into disorder and chaos."

In a 2,000-word communique issued after a lengthy cabinet meeting, the government said the "suffering French people" were not responsible for what it termed an "anti-Spanish campaign."

"It is necessary to make known once again that, under the appearance of false humanitarianism and simulated compassion, there is being developed a new campaign of snares and calumnies against Spain, of which the promoter and active agent is international Communism," the communique said.

Protests against the recent execution of 10 Spanish anti-Fascists were inspired by Communists who glorified "vulgar and common criminals as martyrs of a political idea," the statement asserted.

Relics of Long Ago In Window Display

A cigar store Indian combined with a collection of dime novels of the pre-movie thriller era, afford an interesting window display at the Y.M.C.A. The items are the property of C. N. Sautter of 243 Summit street, and both are rare from a collector's standpoint.

The Indian maiden is one of the few in this section of the country and is believed to be about 75 years old. Made of white pine wood the figure is gaily painted and in a good state of preservation. The cigar store Indian, which disappeared from cities years ago, was no novelty in 1617. His background was an apothecary's shop, as tobacco was first sold by apothecaries and was a familiar sight in England as early as the reign of James I. They reached their greatest vogue in the late 30's, 60, 70 and 80's and shared interest with the bull's head or steer's horns in butcher shops, bears in furriers' showrooms, and the saddlery shop's piebald or calico horses. They bring various prices now ranging as high as $150 and $200.

The dime novels are from Mr. Sautter's collection of around 500 volumes telling of the adventures of Diamond Dick, Old Sleuth, Young Sleuth, Deadwood Dick, Nick Carter, Frank Reade and other thriller heroes of the then wild and woolly west. Their popularity was at its height before the turn of the century and Mr. Sautter's collection includes the years between 1868 and 1910.

WYATT'S PLEA FAILS TO AID HOMES BILL

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 2 — President Truman's emergency home-building program bogged down deeper than ever today on Capitol Hill, despite the warning of Housing Expediter Wilson W. Wyatt that each day's delay is costing the nation 3,000 new living units.

The house, which originally was scheduled to vote on the legislation Wednesday, was in recess until Monday and it was evident that administration leaders needed the week-end breather for a new effort to muster badly-needed support for the bill Mr. Truman wants.

In an urgent letter to Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex), Mr. Truman yesterday asked specifically for congressional approval of provisions for price ceilings on all houses and authority to use $600,000,000 in subsidies to break the bottleneck on construction materials.

But the letter arrived yesterday a few minutes after the house voted 154 to 68 to kill the part of the bill putting price ceilings on existing dwellings.

Then, fighting a delaying action, administration leaders brought about adjournment of the house until Monday before a vote could be reached on the subsidy issue.

Republicans, and some southern Democrats joined in opposition to the administration proposals.

A Republican substitute bill authored by Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich), omits any reference to price ceilings on homes or to use of subsidies to bring about larger production of building materials, described by Mr. Truman as the heart of his program.

Russians Share U. S. View at Nazi Trial

By The Associated Press

NUERNBERG, March 2 — The Soviet Union joined the United States today in assuring the international military tribunal that it opposes any attempt to put millions of Germans on trial for war crimes.

Gen. Roman A. Rudenko, the chief Russian prosecutor, announced Soviet support of Justice Robert H. Jackson's declaration yesterday that conviction of six indicted Nazi organizations would not mean outlawing of a great section of the German population, as the defense had contended.

The defense pleaded today that feminine members of the indicted groups be specifically exempted.

The organizations indicted are the Nazi Leadership Corps, the Reich cabinet, the SS (Elite Guard), the SA (Storm Troops), the Gestapo and the general staff and high command.

OPA Lifts Steel Cost, Quiet on Other Goods

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 2—OPA left unanswered today how much more the public may have to pay for automobiles, refrigerators, washing machines and other consumer steel products.

The agency put higher prices on steel as it comes from the mill, but it said the effect of this on retail prices of finished goods will not be known for a while.

Mill increases announced by OPA last night range from $2 to $12 a son on all carbon and alloy steel products. These specific adjustments were made under the government's Feb. 15 directive which authorized an average price hike of $5 a ton.

The purpose of the boost is to offset the wage increase of 18½ cents an hour won by the steelworkers.

COCHERL APPOINTED FIRE DEPT. CAPTAIN

Ranks High in Exam; To Take Mark Street Post.

John F. Cocherl of 523 North Prospect street has been promoted to captain in the city fire department, Safety-service Director Ed O. Uncapher announced today. He will begin his duties today as captain of No. 3 station on East Mark street.

Cocherl stood highest among six fireman candidates who took a captain's examination given by the civil service commission recently. Uncapher said, and his appointment was automatic. He has completed 11 years in the fire department, entering the department as a fireman Feb. 3, 1935.

The vacancy was made by the recent retirement of Fred Reiff after 30 years service.

FIRE PROTECTION CONFERENCE IS SET

Trustees To Meet with City Officials Again.

Marion township trustees notified city officials Friday that they were ready to hold another joint conference to discuss further plans to provide fire protection for property in the township. City officials were to set a date for the conference within the next few days.

At a meeting of the township trustees Thursday night following their discussion with city officials Monday night, a discussion was held to formulate terms for a temporary contract with the city to make city fire equipment available for runs outside the city limits. No definite decision was reached, but Howard McCurdy, chairman of the township committee, pointed out that trustees hoped a system could be devised at their next meeting with city officials.

Under the present code Marion firemen are not protected by workmen's compensation for injuries that might be suffered on runs outside the city limits. Trustees have pointed to importance of having adequate fire protection due to the number of important industrial, residential and institutional areas within a short distance of the city limits.

Special to The Star

KENTON, March 2—The U. S. supreme court was petitioned Monday to consider the case of Richard Knight, convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment by an Ohio court last year. The petition was filed by William B. Price and Eugene B. Wetherill of Kenton, Knight's attorneys.

Knight was convicted of first degree murder in the killing of Loyal Bean, Dunkirk grocer, in 1934, but the case was retried by the common pleas court of Hardin county last year before a jury after a technicality was found in the original conviction. He was again sentenced to life imprisonment in the Ohio penitentiary.

Programs on the Air

The front page news and radio bulletins on strikes and shortages that have been a daily dish all winter are beginning to be felt on the commercial, or entertainment, side of radio.

The steel strike, for instance has silenced food manufatturers and distributors because they are short of containers. The automotive industry also is sitting-tight on radio advertising.

"How," ask the big butter and egg men, "can we advertise something we can't deliver?"

The short supply of sugar also has hit would-be radio sponsors. Their sugar allotment is just the same as it was a year ago—but it has to go further. Millions of ex-service men are dipping into the family sugar bowl. last year they were being fed in mess halls.

President Truman's restrictions on wheat consumption in this country has put the damper on beer commercials (the biggest local and regional advertisers in radio). Standard Brands, the H. J. Heinz Food Company and General Mills, among others, have retrenched on advertising.

U. S. INVITES RUSSIA HERE TO TALK LOAN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 2—The United States has invited the Soviets to come here and talk over a $1,000,000,000 loan.

This was disclosed yesterday by a high ranking government official as President Truman told congress he soon will recommend adding $1,250,000,000 to the lending powers of the export-import bank to take care of loans to countries other than Britain.

Mr. Truman's message said treasury funds will be loaned only to Britain — providing congress approves a projected $3,750,000,000 credit. Other borrowers will have to go to the export-import bank.

The declaration of administration policy on foreign lending came on the eve of arrival of representatives from France — which has voiced a need of $2,500,000,000 — and revelation that Russia had applied for $1,000,000,000

Four Marion Rookies Boost Cards' March Training Camp Roster to 24

By JIM DARBY

Marion's already rabid baseball fans will have their interest in the Cardinals' fortunes increased by the presence of local talent this season. In addition to Joe Carl Roseberry of 272 Patterson street, who was signed some time ago, three more Marion boys have been added to the list of 24 who will report at the Albany, Ga., training camp March 25, according to an announcement from Judge W. Dexter Hazen, president of the club. Thirty players are signed, but six won't report for training for various reasons.

Pitchers predominate among the tryout candidates. There are 12 aspiring moundsmen, five catchers, two first basemen, one third baseman, four general infielders, five outfielders and one dark horse.

It will be strictly a tryout period at the Georgia training camp, Judge Hazen said, and the team put on the field opening day may not contain any of the names now on the roster.

The new Marion players are Charles Wynn Jr., 20, of 169 West Center street, Leo L. Harvey, 22, of 850 South Prospect street and Jack V. Higgins, 22, of 677 Bennett street. Robert Milligan, 19, of Richwood is on the roster but probably will not be released from the Navy in time to play this season. He is a righthanded pitcher.

Wynn is a catcher who throws and bats right, stands 5 feet 8¼ inches and weighs 160 pounds. He attended Richwood High school where he played on the varsity with Milligan, and also played sandlot ball with a club composed of players from Richwood and surrounding territory. He entered the Navy in January 1943 and served 37 months, 18 in the Pacific, receiving his discharge Feb. 12.

Played with Harding and Eagles.

Harvey is also a catcher who bats and throws righthanded. He stands 5 feet 8½ and weighs 188 pounds. His experience includes service with Harding High nine and with the old Eagle's Lodge team. He served three years in the Army from April 1943 until Feb. 17 when he received his discharge.

Higgins is an outfielder who throws and bats left, stands 5 feet 6, weighs 150 pounds. He graduated from Harding High school in 1942 and has played sandlot ball with various Marion teams. He was discharged from the Navy Feb. 16 after 35 months of service, 23 in the Pacific.

Twenty other players are included on the roster to report for try-outs. Five are hold-overs from last season. The roster contains 30 names but six players will not be present at training camp, four are still in service and two will not report until the end of school, according to their contracts.

Due Back About April 15.

Wally Snang, Cardinal manager who has winter has been operating his farm near Dixon, Mo., will bring his selections back to Marion about April 15, Judge Hazen said. Other members of the St. Louis farm teams who will train at Albany are: Allentown, Pa., Lynchburg, Va., Winston-Salem, N. C., Johnson City, Tenn., and Carthage, Mo. The Columbus Red Birds and the Rochester Red Wings will train at Biloxi, Miss.

Pleasant Swamps Columbus Foe 65-48; Battles Marysville Tonight

Westerville Tourney List To Be Slashed To 8 Today

Mayers Drops in 27 Points for Locals; Semi-finals Set for Tuesday.

Pleasant, Marion county's tournament runner up, entered the class B tournament at Westerville last night with a roar as they dumped Columbus St. Mary 65 to 48. Charles Mayers turned in 27 points to rank as high point man of the evening.

With three of the four original Marion county entries still battling in the tournament (as of noon today) there was a mathematical chance of the county walking off with both tournament titles. Out of the 38 teams starting in the meet, only 16 are left and when the firing ends tonight there will be only eight. New Bloomington, the county's fourth entry, lost its first game to Columbus Rosary.

Pleasant Takes Lead

Coach Porter's squad last night jumped into an early lead and kept it. They held a 14-point margin at half time and added three more points to it during the second half fray. Yoll of St. Mary contributed 20 points to the losers' cause.

Dremen knocked out Galena, Delaware county runners-up, 45 to 26. Millersport snowed Delaware St. Mary under 40 to 27. Worthington, Franklin county winner, took Granville 47 to 26 and Columbus University whipped Utica 46 to 34.

Three Marion county teams in the quarter finals today. St. Mary plays London at 2 p. m., Claridon was billed against Lancaster St. Mary at 4 and Pleasant tangles with Marysville at 7. The upper bracket semi-finals, to which Claridon and St. Mary belong, will be played Tuesday and the lower bracket semi-finals, in which Pleasant belongs Wednesday. The finals are set for Saturday in each bracket. There will be two champions, one going to Springfield and one to Athens.

Rest of Schedule

Tuesday night's semi-final bouts will pit the winner of the Magnetic Springs-Columbus Rosary game against the winner of the St. Mary-London game and the winner of the Claridon-Lancaster St. Mary against the winner of the Cardington-Mt. Gilead game. Tonight's games provide the first of the hurdles to be overcome if Claridon and St. Mary are to play each other in the finals.

If Pleasant gets by Marysville

OHIO TO GET NEW "A" CHAMPION THIS YEAR

Bellevue Spilled by Port Clinton in Opener.

By The Associated Press

There will be a new Ohio Class "A" high school basketball champion this year.

Bellevue's Redmen, who won the title last year, lasted only long enough to take the floor in their first tournament engagement, then went the way of all defending champions since Dayton Stivers successfully defended the crown in 1929 and 1930.

The Redmen took a 51 to 32 beating from Port Clinton last night in the opening game of the district tournament at Ashland.

Northridge's two-year winning streak reached 40 games as the Polar Bears, defending Class "B" state champions, crushed Lebanon, 42 to 20

PEP SHOWS PRE-WAR FORM IN QUICK KAYO

Bartolo Lucky He Has Till May to Fight.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 2 — The fight experts agreed today that it was a lucky break for Sal Bartolo he won't be putting up his half of the featherweight championship against Willie Pep until some time in May.

For Pep, the 126-pound king of New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Connecticut, was in his sharp, pre-service form last night in belting out fleshy Jimmy McAllister of Baltimore in 2:44 of the second heat of their ten-rounder in Madison Square Garden.

Had Bartolo, a two-time loser to Pep several years ago, been in the ring, as scheduled, the chances are the result might have been the same. Bartolo was supposed to have met Pep to iron out their rival claims but the bout was postponed last Saturday when the Bostonian claimed he was ill.

SAYS BATTING BET ONLY JOKE—Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox, shown above sharpening his bat for the coming campaign, insists that he was "only fooling" when he told baseball writers of a bet with Dick Wakefield of the Tigers. Williams was reported to have bet Wakefield $1,000 even he would outhit the Detroit slugger and wagered him $1,000 to $800 that Tiger would not duplicate Ted's 1941 feat of belting 37 home runs. Williams' new statement came as Baseball Czar A. B. Chandler declared "gambling in baseball is not tolerated."

Crystal, played by Geraldine Fitzgerald, and Johnny are linked together by their desire for money. Jerome K Arbutny, played by Sydney Greenstreet, has always squandered money entrusted to his care and is very anxious to win on this ticket. The ticket is drawn for entry but Jerome doesn't wish then to go through with the deal.

Darkening the labor picture was the threatened strike of the Ohio Federation of Telephone Workers who filed notice to join a nation-wide stoppage in 30 days. The union began mailing strike ballots to approximately 7,000 members employed by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

The telephone workers may be idled March 7 when 17 affiliates of the National FTW begin their strike. The Ohio union is obligated not to cross picket lines set up by the other unions. They seek $2 a day or 25 cents an hour pay boosts.

Leaders of two railroad brotherhoods indicated heavy sentiment for a nationwide strike on the country's railroads.

STOCK LEADERS ON SKIDS YET

Real Pressure Lacking But Dealings Are Slow for Saturday Session.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 2—Leading stocks continued their downward drift in today's market although real pressure was lacking and dealings among the slowest for a Saturday of the past six months.

Bullish contingents found little if anything in the spot news to inspire the resumption of buying. Wall Street still was pessimistic over the labor situation.

From the opening on the ticker tape frequently was at a standstill and transfers of around 500,000 shares were less than half the aggregate of the last short session two weeks ago.

Prominent on the retreat were Chrysler, General Motors, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, N. Y. Central, Santa Fe U. S. Steel, Republic Steel, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck and Douglas Aircraft.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

"SURPRISE! Surprise!" Mary caroled as I opened the door! Then she caught her breath most artistically, and her eyebrows went up in well-simulated astonishment.

"And I am the one to be surprised," she said. "I didn't expect to see you here, Auntie Madge. Did you, Noel?"

I paid tribute to Mary's histrionic ability as I turned to Noel, a step to the rear of his wife, and so laden down with packages that, I told myself, if he had a beard, a wig, a cap and a red stuffed snow suit, he would make a most creditable Santa Claus.

"No, I didn't," he said. "But," he added gallantly, it's very nice to see you."

"Look at the faces of those two boys, Noel!" Mary adjured him, with a lilting laugh. "We've surprised them all right. They're wondering what in the world brought us down here."

The two boys were not doing too badly as thespians, themselves, I reflected, as I saw the apparent astonishment mirrored in their faces.

Then they, too, made the courteous gesture.

"We may be astonished," Roderick said, smiling affectionately at his sister, "but we're mighty glad, too, I don't have any too many chances of seeing my only sister, you know."

"That goes for your cousin, too," Junior said. "But come in and sit down."

Can't Stay Long

"We'll do that," Mary said, "if only to get the weight off Noel's feet. We can't stay very long, however. We both have a million things to do."

"I'll bet it's only a thousand, actual count," Junior said, grinning widely at her.

"Touche!" Mary answered. "But we really are rightfully busy. However, we couldn't resist the opportunity to give you a little surprise, as long as Aunt Madge said you wanted the things."

Polite bewilderment still remained on the faces of the boys, and then, when they had brought out chairs for their guests, and Noel, with an audible sigh of relief, had deposited his bundles by the side of his chair, Mary voiced their explanation, which, of course, we all knew beforehand.

"I heard Auntie Madge saying that you two lads needed some new Boy Scout trinkets," she said, "and as Noel and I can only be good scouts vicariously—we're getting old and wrinkled, you know—we decided we'd like to contribute to the cause."

She paused dramatically, and lifting a package from the pile on the floor, began to unwrap it.

"Auntie Madge gave us a list of everything you needed," she went on, "and Noel, the lamb, wouldn't let me miss my nap to get them. He plowed through the crowds yesterday and came back with all the loot Auntie Madge had listed, carried it all himself. I think your troop ought to make him an Eagle Scout."

"What nonsense, darling!" Noel said deprecatingly, but I saw that, as always, he was basking in her praise. "I couldn't have you miss your nap, and it really wasn't any trouble, Auntie Madge's list was so clear.

"There were several new gadgets I would have liked to add to the list," he said, "but, of course, I had no means of knowing whether or not you already had them, so I did not buy them."

Sense of Regret

With a fleeting sense of regret that I had not been able to consult the boys before giving Mary the list—I remembered their wistful hope that Noel had included "one or two of the snazzy new things" they did not possess—I gave my attention, as did the boys, to the unwrapping of the things Noel had brought.

He had bought everything on the list, and I told myself, with a mental grin, that it was a good think I had not listed "pup tents" or he would have had to come by truck instead of by taxicab. As it was, the articles—knives, compasses, flashlights, cooking utensils, covered the table and most of the couch when they were unwrapped.

"Gee!" the boys exclaimed in unison when the last article was unwrapped. "What a layout!" and I knew that they had not had to exercise their histrionism to make those words sincere.

Make Your Home Modern With Ample Closet Space and Built-ins

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

PAINTING BASEMENT

Q. My basement walls are made of cement blocks and have been whitewashed twice. The last four years I painted them twice with a resin base, water emulsion paint. The paint is coming off and I would like to use a regular cement coating paint. Is there any preparation for removing whitewash and cold water paint?

A. Scrub with a hot solution of two or three pounds of washing soda to the gallon of water. Use a stiff brush and follow by thorough rinsing. You may need to use a wire brush for the complete removal of all the old paint. For refinishing, get a damp-proof, cement base paint that comes as a powder to be mixed with water and in colors as well as white. A dealer in mason supplies should have it.

RUSTY CHROMIUM

Q: My chromium electrical fixtures show rust spots. Is there any way to treat them?

A: If they are electric light fixtures the simplest way to treat them would be to rub the rust spots with fine steel wool moistened with kerosene. Then wipe with turpentine or benzine (careful of fire!) and apply a suitable metallic paint. If you have electric appliances, inquire at a plating shop to see if they can be replated.

YOUR HOME TODAY and TOMORROW

by W. Wadsworth Wood

Closets and Built-in Conveniences.

The chief difference between a modern house and an old-fashioned home is that the modern house is completely convenient. The plan of the old homes called for spaciousness even at the price of great inconvenience. It made no difference if you had to walk several miles around the kitchen in the course of a day or up and down stairs to and from the laundry in the basement to say nothing of stoking the furnace four or five times a day. The modern home aims at the elimination of unnecessary steps and drudgery.

A recent survey of the pet hates of the housewife indicated that lack of adequate closet space caused more inconvenience than anything else. Lack of storage space for bulky articles such as trunks, chests and luggage ranked high as a nuisance and the lack of well-planned kitchens and bathrooms and a dearth of electric plugs where they were most needed added to the grievances.

Closets Important

The prospective homebuilder, or the modernizer of an old home, should familiarize himself with modern closet engineering. He will find that a well-planned closet will hold comfortably at least twice as much as the old one-shelf, single-bar clothes closet and that order will prevail instead of chaos. It will simply be the difference between convenience and inconvenience for the whole family.

On the subject of built-ins, it might well be said that they add more to real modern living than anything else in the house as far as convience goes. The small niche for the telephone instrument, the linen closet right in the bathroom instead of out in the hall, the kitchen equipment that disappears into the wall when not in use, the built-in dressing tables, wardrobes and clothes chests in the bedroom, and the well-planned space-saving built-in furniture in living rooms are only a few of the built-in conveniences available. Most of them are manufactured, assembled and ready to be set in place.

Choose Best Locations

It is a modern idea as well as a practical one to plan your home as far as room arrangement and location go and then spot your built-ins where they will be most effective and offer the greatest convenience. The homeowner, particularly of the small house where space is at a premium, should consider built-in furniture seriously as a substitute for portable pieces. They make a room easy to keep in order, easy to clean and comfortable to live in. Things are bound to be in their places when they are built in.

Seek Right To Evict Unsuitable Tenants

Rental property owners should be given the right to give preference to veterans where an eviction of present tenants is justified by the conditions of a lease or by local custom and law, according to the National Association of Real Estate boards.

This recommendation has been made to Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt.

"OPA now compels owners to retain as tenants a large number of families and persons whose conduct is prejudicial to the property and to their neighbors," the association said. "Control over property along this line should be returned to the owner, provided he uses this power for the benefit of the veteran."

WHY WASTE COAL?

One of a series of articles intended to help solve heating problems and conserve fuel.

Hot-water heating systems are usually one of two types—a two-pipe system, wherein the water, after it has given up its heat to the radiator, is returned to the boiler by means of a separate pipe; or a one-pipe system where the water from the radiator goes back into the pipe, or header, from whence it came.

A further division is between gravity circulation and circulation by means of a small pump which circulates the hot water through the system.

Sometimes a room will not heat properly when hot water is the heating medium. If the room is cold, although the radiator is warm or even hot, this is usually an indication that the radiator is of insufficient size and the only cure is to increase its size. If the radiator and the pipe leading to it are cold, it is likely that no hot water is reaching the radiator. This may be due to the valve being closed off, or, infrequently, some scale lodging in the valve or pipe so that it closes the radiator off. It may also be due to the fact that the radiator is air-bound—that is, it is full of air and will not allow the water to circulate. If the radiator is properly vented the trouble disappears. If however one radiator never seems to be warm (and this is usually the one farthest from the boiler) it is likely that the water is cooled before it gets this far in the main or header and the solution is either to "pep up" the circulation by means of a circulating pump, and to readjust the radiators in the house so that each will heat properly.

In a single-pipe system the radiators nearest the boiler get the hottest water, and after the water is then circulated through the other radiators it progressively cools so that one radiator may be warmer to the touch than others. This should occasion no alarm as long as the house heats properly, because the radiators are sized so that each will heat its required amount of space, even though some are at lower temperatures than others.

If it takes a gravity system either one or two pipes—a long time to heat up and this occasions discomfort in the home, we recommend the installation of a circulating pump, which is relatively low in cost, to speed up the heating. This pump should be installed so that it can be cut off and the gravity system used without it.

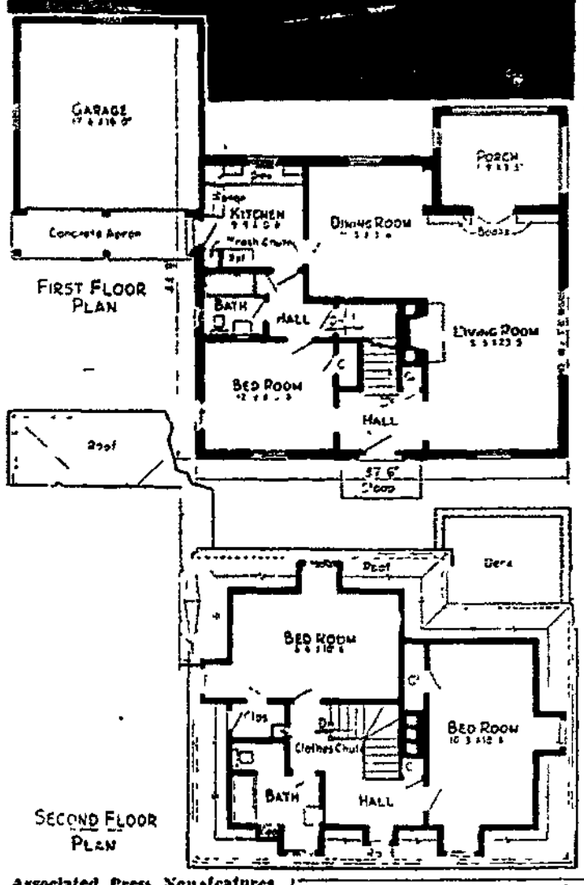
HOMES FOR AMERICANS



Associated Press Newsfeatures

A modified French Colonial design, with long, sweeping roof lines, gives this house considerable distinction. Its classical exterior, especially appropriate for suburban surroundings, has been combined with a modern, open floor plan to give maximum living space, says the American Builder magazine (105 West Adams St., Chicago) in nominating it for Homes for Americans.

The center hall motif has been used to great advantage, permitting a balanced arrangement of rooms and a symmetrical treatment of the exterior.

One bedroom and bath are on the first floor and two master bedrooms and a large bath and shower stall on the second floor. A clothes chute on the second floor and a trash chute in the spacious kitchen are added conveniences.

The exterior sidewalls are painted brick, and the attractive roof of blue-black asphalt shingles is set off with dormer windows.

BLACKBERRY HUES CHOSEN

The blackberry in its various shades and hues has been chosen as a symbol for the color scheme in a new home furnishings promotion of Rich's, Inc., in Atlanta, Ga., says "Retailing Home Furnishings."

The tearoom of the store carries forward the idea by using the original of a special painting by Athos Menaboni, Atlanta artist, on the menus, which features blackberry dishes. The room settings were done by the store's staff of decorators.

Know Your Heating System

Homeowners Usually Poorly Informed on Types and Operating Systems, Industrial Bureau Reports.

Do you say "furnace" when you mean "boiler" and vice versa? Many people do, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau, in calling attention to the need for a better understanding by the public of the terminology used by the heating industry. Such an understanding is particularly important now when many people are thinking about heating plants for new houses, the Bureau points out.

In the heating industry the term furnace is applied to the combustion unit in the basement that burns the fuel and transfers the heat to air which is circulated through ducts.

The term boiler is used to describe the unit which produces either hot water for a hot water heating system or steam for a steam heating system. Actually the water in the boiler for a hot water heating system does not reach the boiling point.

Not Specific

Many a homeowner, when asked what kind of a heating system he has, is likely to answer by naming the kind of fuel he is burning and not by accurately indicating the complete system, as for instance, oil-fired hot water heating with mechanical circulation or stoker-fired warm air heating with a fan.

Often a conversation between a man in the heating industry and a homeowner is likely to go like this:

"How is your home heated?"

"Oh, I have a furnace."

"Pipeless, gravity, or forced?"

"I—well, it has an oil burner."

"It's automatic heat, then."

Yes, the air valves click open and shut without attention when the hot water goes through."

"Wait a minute. You don't have a furnace; you have a boiler. Is it steam or hot water?"

"Well I've got radiators."

"Do you have a circulator in the basement?"

"No."

"Then what you have is a steam radiator heating system burning oil."

Requisites Not Clear

Many consumers have only a foggy notion about the three essentials of a heating system the heat transfer method, the heat distribution method, and the fuel burned.

In a furnace, the heat is transferred from the fuel to air. In a boiler, the heat is transferred from the fuel to water or steam.

Similarly, the methods of heat distribution differ with various systems. Warm air is distributed by ducts; steam and hot water by pipes. However, some of the newer systems combine the two methods. Heat is generated in a boiler, and piped to a heat exchanger. At this point the air may be humidified and fed to grilles or it may flow between the walls and floors.

Prospective builders are urged to consult a heating and piping contractor before their plans reach the blue print stage. A contractor who is familiar with heating systems will be in the best position to offer impartial advice to the builder on the type of heating plant and the fuel best suited to his needs. Furthermore the specialized knowledge of the heating and piping contractor is the best assurance of a good installation.

COLORS POPULAR

Bathroom fixtures for new post-war homes will vary little in basic design from those available before the war. Newest bathtubs will have seats built in, or wide fronts that can be used as seats. Colored fixtures will be popular, but their cost is more than white.

Courthouse Painting Job Judgment Is Appealed

Law suit of Frank Slatzer and Jesse L. White, doing business as Slatzer and White, against Nellie R. Little, doing business as the Midwest Sandblast Co., has been appealed by the defendant from municipal court to common pleas court.

A judgement of $310 and costs in favor of the plaintiff was given by municipal court. In an amended petition Slatzer and White claim they entered into a verbal agreement with the Midwest Sanrblast company to paint the dome and other parts of the courthouse and to furnish the labor and materials for the work for which the sandblast company was to pay them $1,200. Slatzer and White claim that after they had started the work the sandblast company refused to let them finish the job, employing another party to do the work. In an answer the defendant denies all the allegations of the petition and asks that it be dismissed.

J. W. Jacoby is attorney for the plaintiff and J. D. Williamson and W. P. Moloney attorneys for the defendant.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDENSEN, M.D.

Diabetes

During the past few decades, there has been an increase in the number of cases of diabetes that have come to the attention of the doctors of the country. In this disease, the body is not able to properly utilize sugars and as a result the amount of sugar in the blood increases.

Diabetes is due to a lack of secretion from the gland known as the pancreas, but we do not as yet know why this gland does not function as it should. Therefore, the actual cause of diabetes is not known. It would appear probable that the disease does run in families and that perhaps overweight may be a factor in many cases.

The increase in the number of cases, according to Dr. Verne S. Caviness of North Carolina, may be due in large measure to the fact that people are living longer. Diabetes occurs most commonly in persons between 45 and 55 years of age. Then, too, methods of treatment have been improved so that persons with diabetes survive for a much longer time. The average duration of the disease has increased from three years to twenty years or more.

Diabetes starts gradually. Usually the first symptom is the excretion of large amounts of urine. There is increased thirst and hunger. Weakness soon develops and gradually becomes worse. Itching of the skin in various parts of the body is often present.

As the disease continues, there follows loss of weight and in some instances the development of skin infections, such as boils and carbuncles. Pains in the legs are an annoying symptom in some patients.

As a rule, it is not difficult to diagnose diabetes. If sugar is found in the urine and there is an increase in the amount of sugar in the blood, it may be assumed that the disease is present.

The blood sugar is determined by withdrawing a little blood from a vein and testing it chemically. It is important that an estimation of the amount of sugar in the blood be made since there are some persons who may excrete sugar in the urine but still not have diabetes.

The treatment of diabetes must begin with a regulation of the diet. The diet prescribed by the doctor must be followed strictly, and it should, of course, supply the patient with all the necessary food parts and enough calories to keep up his nutrition.

If this cannot be done without causing the blood sugar to rise and sugar to be excreted by the kidney, then injections of insulin must be administered. It is also important that the patient take enough exercise each day, since exercise speeds up the activities of the body and will cause the sugars to be utilized with greater efficiency. Of course, the amount of exercise must be kept within reason.

I have outlined some suggestions which may be of help to diabetics in following their physician's advice which I shall be glad to send to those who write in, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Names will not be used.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

C. H.: I am bothered with soreness in my breasts. I also get pains through my chest and my heart seems to flutter. Is this due to nerves or might I have a heart condition?

Answer: It is impossible to state just what is causing your trouble, although it is not likely that it is due to a heart condition. The symptoms might be due to nerves, to some nerve inflammation, or to inflammation of tissues in the breasts.

The proper thing for you to do is to have a careful study made by your physician to determine just what disorder is present.

MARION CO. HELPS BOOST LEGION'S ROLL

Five Local Posts Join in State Membership Drive.

The five Marion County American Legion posts, two of which are in Marion, have contributed a large number of members to the record-breaking membership of the Legion in Ohio.

Membership in the state has passed 100,000 and is now on the way toward the goal of 150,000 set for 1946 by Harry A. Eaton of Ashland, department commander. This announcement was made Thursday at Legion state headquarters in Columbus.

According to a report from D. J. MacDonald, Marion county commander of the Legion, Bird-McGinnis Post at Marion has 493 members, Caledonia Post No. 401 at Caledonia, 51, Clarence Phillippi Post No. 101 at LaRue, 110, Verne I. Mounts Post No. 368 at Prospect, 107, and Marion G. I. Post No. 584, which was recently chartered, 76. The goal for the county is 1,000 members, to top the membership last year of 498.

The state headquarters, with J. J. Saslavsky as adjutant, has reported that part of the increase in the state was due to the organization of 34 new posts since official V-J day, Sept. 2, 1945, but most of the gain was in old established posts.

Ohio now has 11 posts with more than 1,000 members each. Three of these—Franklin No. 1 of Columbus, Canton No. 44 and Middletown No. 218—have more than 2,000 members each. Other posts in the 1,000-member class are located in Akron (two posts), Cincinnati, Steubenville, Lima, Dayton, Mansfield and Fremont.

Chicago Zoo's Newest Citizen Is Baby Hippo

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 2 — Bebe's new baby is a girl hippopotamus.

Bebe, the Brookfield zoo's prize hippo who gave birth to her sixth calf Sunday, didn't get hungry until yesterday when she lumbered out of her pool for the first time since the blessed event and headed for food in an adjoining cage.

The baby hippo, about 30 inches tall and weighing about 40 pounds, followed mama Bebe out of the tank and director Robert Bean disclosed it was a female.

Mrs. George Pickering was an associate hostess for a meeting of the Alpha Delta class of Central Christian Sunday school Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Herman Heisler of 580 Bellefontaine avenue. For roll call the members named their favorite radio program and Miss Ruth Auman conducted the devotions. Assisting in the missionary work in Puerto Rico will be a project of the class this year. War trophies and souvenirs brought by the members were discussed for the program hour and Mrs. Oscar Cross and son, Roger Cross, modeled Chinese costumes. A white elephant sale was held. Plans were made for the next meeting March 28 which will be a family party at the church.

In Memory

★Of our wife and mother who passed away March 3, 1942, Susan C. Ulrich.

We mourn for you in silence,
No eyes can see us weep,
But many a silent tear we shed
While others are deep in sleep.
More and more each day we miss you;
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But O, the lonesomeness and sorrow
That lie in our hearts concealed.

MARION CO. HELPS BOOST LEGION'S ROLL

Five Local Posts Join in State Membership Drive.

The five Marion County American Legion posts, two of which are in Marion, have contributed a large number of members to the record-breaking membership of the Legion in Ohio.

Membership in the state has passed 100,000 and is now on the way toward the goal of 150,000 set for 1946 by Harry A. Eaton of Ashland, department commander. This announcement was made Thursday at Legion state headquarters in Columbus.

According to a report from D. J. MacDonald, Marion county commander of the Legion, Bird-McGinnis Post at Marion has 493 members, Caledonia Post No. 401 at Caledonia, 51, Clarence Phillippi Post No. 101 at LaRue, 110, Verne I. Mounts Post No. 368 at Prospect, 107, and Marion G. I. Post No. 584, which was recently chartered, 76. The goal for the county is 1,000 members, to top the membership last year of 499.

The state headquarters, with J. J. Saslavsky as adjutant, has reported that part of the increase in the state was due to the organization of 34 new posts since official V-J day, Sept. 2, 1945, but most of the gain was in old established posts.

Ohio now has 11 posts with more than 1,000 members each. Three of these—Franklin No. 1 of Columbus, Canton No. 44 and Middletown No. 218—have more than 2,000 members each. Other posts in the 1,000-member class are located in Akron (two posts), Cincinnati, Steubenville, Lima, Dayton, Mansfield and Fremont.

Bebe, the Brookfield zoo's prize hippo who gave birth to her sixth calf Sunday, didn't get hungry until yesterday when she lumbered out of her pool for the first time since the blessed event and headed for food in an adjoining cage.

The baby hippo, about 30 inches tall and weighing about 40 pounds, followed mama Bebe out of the tank and director Robert Bean disclosed it was a female.

SATURDAY, MARCH 2, 1946

No Coaxing

OF the several reasons being talked up in Washington for making Julius Albert Krug secretary of the interior, the one that makes most sense is the nominee's willingness to take the job. He does not seem to have been coaxed to accept the appointment.

A strange thing has been happening. In contrast with the days when men jumped at the chance to hold high public office because of the prestige, there are signs that some men now are jumping away from the chance, because of the grief.

This is true of President Truman himself. He makes no secret of his feeling that being chief executive is not a privilege but a sacrifice. It is evident in the long list of former public officials who have left government service explaining that the sacrifice was too great.

While the political omen for the Truman administration is unfavorable, something serious is happening to the United States when so many citizens feel that public service is a personal sacrifice instead of a privilege and a duty. It might help, of course, if pay rates were higher, but raising salaries is only an expedient. Government cannot go into competitive bidding for the talent it needs. The possessors of talent must want to use it in public service.

Mr. Krug apparently feels that it would be a privilege to administer the department of interior. The senate may be more moved by his willingness to tackle the job than by his other qualifications, which are not outstanding.

No. 1 on the Worry Parade

WHENEVER two or more Americans get together, they talk about Russia sooner or later. What they say, if it could be boiled down to one comment, amounts to this: that this country will have to watch the Russians.

If the comment is boiled down still further, to find out what it means, a simple fact emerges, a fact so obvious it is almost ridiculous that in the world there are two nations with overwhelming power. One is the United States, the other is Russia.

Together, if they can see eye to eye on any set of common aims, the United States and Russia can get anything they want, within reason. Apart, they must inevitably come into conflict. That is why Americans are "watching" Russians, and it is why Russians are keeping an eye on Americans. We forget that we are not the only nation with misgivings about the other fellow's intentions.

In our representative democracy, foreign policy ultimately is shaped by the people themselves. This comes about through the process of free selections, in which public opinion about foreign policy plays an important part. Every administration tries to the best of its ability to win support on foreign policy issues. Failing to win support, the government must change its position.

There are signs that the Truman administration is changing its position on Russia in an attempt to short-circuit criticism. The signs indicate that this government is preparing to make a clean break with the wartime policy of the Roosevelt administration, whose chief aim in dealing with Russia was to insure victory against Germany and Japan.

That aim carried the administration dangerously close at times to the extreme of appeasing Russia on exclusively Russian terms. Whatever excuses could be made for appeasement during wartime are no longer valid. American instinct is against appeasement. It has become an intolerable policy now that the war is over. Furthermore, it isn't getting results.

The Russian government is not responding to it. Observers like Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, who represented the United States in the UNO's first meeting at London, have pointed out that this government should be as firm about its purposes as the Russian government. Many thoughtful persons have declared that the only way to deal successfully with Russian realism is to be equally realistic.

This is the direction in which the government apparently is going in its thinking about foreign policy with regard to Russia. It is the direction in which the people's thinking is going. The United States must accept responsibility for its principles. It must deal with Russia as an equal, not as an inferior.

If that happens and if the people of the United States become convicted that they are not being placed at the mercy of Russia through a government policy of servility, there will be an improvement in the atmosphere of Russo-American relations.

IN THE LONG AGO

Children nowadays have nearly everything, but who among the millions of them has tasted the sugary delight of those candy fried eggs in little saucepans sold with tiny tin spoons in long vanished independent groceries to their fathers and mothers when they were young? —Washington Star.

Byrnes Sees Senator's Way

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Secretary for Things Vandenberg Wants.

SECRETARY BYRNES has now said — or rather he has said once again—all the things that Senator Vandenberg wants to have said. I hope I am entirely wrong in feeling that the senator might have given some indication, however faint, that he is going to work for, and not merely be eloquent about, our moral leadership, and a positive foreign policy, and no vacillation.

If he is going to work for these things, he will no doubt at once exert his own leadership in his own party, insisting upon prompt, positive and unvacillating measures, even if at first they are not too popular, to send food to the peoples threatened with starvation, to furnish financial and other assistance for rehabilitation, and to provide the United States with a postwar military establishment adequate to its responsibilities.

For what Senator Vandenberg wants done can not be done by making speeches in the Senate or in the Security Council. Positive leadership requires positive measures, and for positive measures it is necessary to pay the price.

Price To Pay

The price has to be paid in money, in self-denial, in effort, and when Senator Vandenberg is as bold, as forthright, as resounding on military policy, the British loan, and our scandalous failure to meet our UNRRA commitments, as he has been on things in general, he will have earned the applause he has received.

If this seems rather a sour note, I can say only that I see no satisfying evidence in the senator's speech that he has measured the commitment which his words impose upon this country. He proposes to contest the leadership of Asia and the great part of Europe with the Soviet Union. I share the view that we have no choice but to contest it—up to the point, certainly, where the Soviet Union stabilizes its position and ceases to expand.

But this is an enormous task, difficult, laborious and dangerous, and I just can not help feeling a profound disquiet when I hear a senator, especially one with Mr. Vandenberg's record, using such very big words without any corresponding indications that he is thinking seriously about how the big checks he is writing are to be cashed, how the big words are to be made good.

I do not question the sincerity of Senator Vandenberg's conversion to the ideals of the UNO or the genuineness of his devotion to an organized peace. But he was equally sincere when he was a leading isolationist.

Judgment Changes

What was wrong with him then was not his heart and his ideals but his practical judgment, his capacity to estimate correctly the peril which threatened this country, and the measures, domestic and international, needed to meet that peril. He opposed virtually all the essential measures because he sincerely believed that if the United States wanted peace hard enough, it would have peace by its superior moral position.

Now it is far from clear that in his conversion from isolation, he has also changed the habits of mind which underly it. Unless he supplements the speech he has just made in the Senate, one would have to say that he had not changed the habit of his mind. For now instead of security in isolation by virtue of our moral superiority, we are to have the leadership of the world by virtue of the same superiority—by virtue, as he put it, of "the extraordinary power inherent in this unselfishness."

Would that this flattering and inexpensive conception of ourselves were true. But it is not true. We have to grow up and become adult enough to realize that the world will not take us at this valuation of ourselves. We must not look into our own mirrors and think we are looking out of the window.

The influence of the United States is great. It rests upon the prestige we acquired by the valor and skill of our fighting men and the prodigious achievements of our people at home. We proved that we can be a great power in a cause which was the cause of mankind.

But let us not imagine that this prestige, which cost so much when it was gained, will remain intact unless we make the effort and pay the price year in, year out, to preserve it.

Extraordinary Demands

It is already diminished, and if, as we must, we are to contest the moral leadership of the world with a government which exercises a rigorous discipline over its own people, and imposes upon them an austere and laborious life, we shall have to make extraordinary demands upon ourselves.

We just cannot guzzle while millions are starving. We just cannot go hoopla into frenzied pleasure and back to business as usual, and do anything effective to make a free economy feasible and attractive in the shattered and dislocated world about us. We just cannot make faces at Russia, brandish the atomic bomb, and refuse to vote the powers and the money which are indispensable if we are to have a military establishment.

Nor can be sink back to the political level of a past generation, allow our ablest men to leave the government service, and put in posts of critical responsibility men who think they have proved their fitness for high office if they are acquitted of violating the law.

For moral leadership in the world is not to be had by eloquence. And it is not to be had cheaply.

A Big Blow in Housing

Wyatt Is Virtual Tornado When It Comes to Action.

WASHINGTON—There'll be one less tornado in Kentucky this year. Wilson W. Wyatt, former mayor of Louisville, is in Washington.

President Truman has handed him the double-barreled job of housing expediter and national housing administrator. One way or another, the breeze from those appointments still will be blowing when the 1948 elections come around.

Wilson W. Wyatt

The nation's capital got used to southerners kicking up dust a long time ago—as a matter of fact, about as long ago as when the colonies were trying to put 13 eggs in one basket. But for the most part, these southerners took it kind of slow and easy. There always was enough huffing and puffing before the big breeze to give fair warning.

Wilson Wyatt isn't like that. He blew into town a month or so ago and he's still blowing a gale which has his staff and a score of committees gasping—and already has blown the roof off a lot of controversies.

That doesn't bother Wyatt a bit. What he's trying to do is put a few million roofs over the heads of America's houseless in the shortest possible time—at least 2,700,000 units in the next two years.

Almost everybody says that's impossible. But there are a few who say the impossible is just what the Kentucky tornado will achieve if he doesn't blast himself, his staff and others into utter exhaustion first.

From the day Wyatt hit Washington, he has out-conferred his boss, President Truman, who is just about the champion conferrer of all times. Having only a mayor's localized knowledge of housing problems, the new expediter set out to pass his national housing post-graduate tests in about five weeks.

Long Daily Schedule

Starting his office work around 9 or 9:30 a. m., the genial ex-mayor of Louisville has been working until midnight or even 5 a. m., exclusive of home-work. There is the record of one conference that started at 2 p. m. and went through until 5 the next morning, with only time out to munch food that was laid on the conference table. Less than five hours later, the Kentuckian was back at his desk, as fresh as a new-plucked sprig of mint.

Until he announced his program, Wyatt, ordinarily a fairly talkative fellow, didn't do much but study and listen. If there's any governmental agency or industrial group having anything to do with housing or the materials or labor that go into construction that Wyatt hasn't listened to, it's because it hasn't had any representative in Washington.

In 1941, Wyatt, then 37 years old, tossed aside his prosperous corporation law practice to take over the mayor's office in the city of bourbon, fine hosses and good, easy-going living.

What happened to Louisville is what happened to a lot of important industrial cities during the war years. It threatened weekly to burst out at the seams. The boys from Louisville here tell me it would have, too, if it hadn't been for Mayor W. W. W.

Sets High Goal

The one great difference between National Housing Administrator Wyatt and a tornado is that the tornado blows houses down. The former Louisville (Ky.) mayor proposes to puff them up—2,700,000 of them by the end of 1947.

In order to do this, it is estimated that we will need 70 billion feet of lumber. The country's total lumber stocks these days look about like Aunt Mamie's kindling pile. We'll need seven billion bricks—and bricks are so scarce they are still practically hot from the oven when the masons get them.

We'll need about 1,500,000 construction workers. And the building trades unions, for various reasons, are among the toughest to deal with when it comes to forced expansion, overlapping work, etc.

This could go on forever, as for example an average of one and a third bathtubs or showers per building unit or an extra million tons or so of pig iron. As Christine Sadler, housing expert for the Washington Post put it, the only thing we have plenty of to meet this program is "need and money." Wyatt figures those two things and plenty of sweat will put it over.

Requests To Congress

He has asked congress for price controls; for financial backing to get the production expansion under way and convert surplus war plants to producing prefabrication units; and for several other controversial things, including ceilings on building materials. He knows he's in for a scrap in some cities on zoning regulations. He's convinced that the housing crisis can't be met by "building as usual."

Wyatt's long face, made longer by a rapidly retreating hairline, ordinarily beams geniality. His amazing energy creeps into his conversation. He doesn't mince words or duck questions. What he doesn't know he tries to find out even if it requires back-breaking hours of studying and listening.

Comparatively unknown nationally a few months ago, he already is being boomed by Kentucky friends for a bright political future. Since his battle with all the polyglot armies on the housing front is just beginning, that may be a bit premature. But, as Baby Snooks says, "Could be."

He is no political tyro. He fought the war as mayor of Louisville with a Republican dominated board of aldermen and eventually lost the bitterly waged battle for city acquisition of the Louisville Gas and Electric Co. Political wisdom teeth are cut that way.

THE EARLY BIRD GETS A CHILL

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Monday, March 2, 1936. Congress awaited President Roosevelt's $786,000,000 tax message and the treasury launched a $1,809,000,000 financing operation of which $800,000,000 was new borrowing. The loan operations would raise the gross public debt to $31,300,000,000 by April 15, a new all-time peak.

The 1936 campaign to raise $9,385 to finance the program of the Harding area of Boy Scouts got under way with a luncheon attended by more than 100 workers at Hotel Marion. Workers in Wyandot county met at the courthouse in Upper Sandusky and Morrow county workers convened at the American Legion hall in Mt. Gilead. Crawford county workers were to meet the following day to launch their drive.

The technique of short story writing was explained by Miss Lucile Foreman at a meeting of club women interested in the short story held at the City library. The newly-formed group was to be known as the Scribblers club.

The marriage of Miss Ruth Kohbarger and Homer S. Pierce took place in the Emanuel Lutheran church parsonage with Rev. J. W. Schillinger reading the ceremony.

Dr. John LoCricchio of Ford hospital, Detroit, was employed as city health commissioner in connection with establishment of a pathology department at the City hospital.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Tuesday, March 2, 1926.

Fire wiped out half the town of Newport, Ark., destroying 25 blocks of homes at a loss of approximately $1,000,000.

Arthur D. Stouffer, 49, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Stouffer of North State street, died at his home in Cleveland.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ira Salter of Seffner avenue.

Former Sheriff E. E. Drown went to Toledo to serve as a member of the federal grand jury.

Fred E. Guthery returned from a business trip to Washington.

Mrs. George W. Robertson, 55, died at her home on West Church street.

Approximately $1,000,000,000 in the market values of industrial stocks was wiped off the books in a Wall Street market collapse.

Two Kinds of Espionage

By Raymond Moley

CHARLES A. BEARD, noted historian and political scientist, once said, half seriously, that the best way to promote international peace would be to eliminate all ambassadors, ministers and diplomatic agents, except for special and designated missions. He pointed out that, historically and actually, such agents in foreign countries are normally the means through which the home government keeps informed about all manner of doings abroad.

Dr. Beard's suggestion is an extreme way of pointing out what goes on in the great game of diplomacy. The most capable members of the foreign service of any country are those who find out most about the country where they are stationed. Their reports are voluminous, littering, every day, the desks of the higher officers of the home foreign office. When in the state department, I often calculated that if I read all the foreign reports, there would not be a minute left for anything else. These reports cover all kinds of things, some trivial, some significant. Information is gathered at dinners and cocktail parties, through private messages and by ocular observation. High secrets often come through labeled only for the chief of the department. Gentle espionage is not frowned upon.

Why do we send military and naval attaches abroad? To keep in touch with every army and navy development everywhere.

System Is Approved

All this is taken as a matter of course by all concerned. It is like the mild art of spying which goes on among football and baseball teams. When Notre Dame sends an observer to an Army football game, he is not thrown out of the park. He is welcomed, just as rivals are welcomed at South Bend. On professional baseball teams, the best coach is the one who catches onto the opposition's signals. In political campaigns, every effort is made to get advance information about the opposition's speeches.

At what point in the relations among nations does espionage cease to be a game and become an international crisis? No flat rule can be set down. Presumably, the mater becomes serious when a foreign diplomat interferes in domestic politics. It is serious when a foreign embassy organizes subversive activities among the citizens where he resides. War accentuates the seriousness of all diplomatic activities.

Other Activities

It must be pointed out, further, that international spying goes on outside the diplomatic field. Some countries carry on systems of espionage wholly unknown to the diplomatic corps. In some instances such an espionage agency reports solely and exclusively to the head of the government. And the books are full of instances where a spy who gets caught is repudiated by the very government which employs him.

In the Canadian-Russian case, we don't yet know enough to draw conclusions. What is clear is that as long as the atomic bomb remains a secret, there will be efforts by powers outside the secret to learn about it. What rests on us is to sharpen our counter-espionage to centralize our intelligence services and to avoid hysteria.

Above and beyond that is the duty to labor incessantly to create the sort of general international relations which will render the inevitable disclosure of espionage less of a sensation. For we shall never reach the point where one nation will not try to find out what is going on abroad.

"As world-wide amity!"

His hearing is without defect.
And very speedily
He draws his gun when there's a sound
Of global amity.

A Versus B

By Truman Twill

Mental arithmetic is two men hanging wallpaper in a room 10x18, with one door and two windows, and how long will it take B to overtake A if A starts at 8 a. m. and hangs at the rate of two strips a half hour and B hangs at the rate of three strips a half hour starting at 8:30, remembering that the windows are 4x5, the door is 4x7 and the ceilings are eight feet high;

Also remembering that A has two apples and one pear in his lunch bucket and B has a pie and if they decide to trade one third of the pie for one third of the fruit, how many pieces of pie must B cut in order to have one piece left to take home and how will A slice the apple and the pear if he finds a worm in one of the apples, assuming that both apples are the same size;

Also remembering that in a room 10x18 if the carpet is laid to the wall and each strip of carpet is a yard wide, with two openings a foot and a half square for hot air registers in the floor, a papernanger handing two strips a half hour will get less paper stuck to the carpet than one hanging three strips a half hour unless the carpet is covered, and how much covering will be required if both paperhangers are careless.

Also remembering that A's wife, who has been visiting her folks in a city 200 miles away is taking a train that is supposed to leave at 10 a. m. but is three quarters of an hour late and if the train's average speed is 25 miles an hour including stops, it is going to arrive how many minutes before a train from the opposite direction bearing B's wife, who has been to a convention, arrives if it travels at the same speed but is scheduled to start two hours later and starts on time;

Also remembering that in order to meet the train both paperhangers must buy gasoline for their automobiles and A has one dollar and B has a dollar and a half, but if A buys regular grade and B buys premium grade, which gives 12 per cent more mileage than regular grade, which paperhanger will get the most mileage for his dollar if both drive at the same speed and have the same kind of automobile;

Also remembering that if pencils and paper hadn't been invented, mental arithmetic wouldn't have been invented either, because if A tries to do the problem in his head, starting at noon and going nuts at the rate of 15 per cent loss of his faculties per minute, and B cheats by using pencil and paper and going nuts at the rate of only 6 per cent loss of his faculties per minute he will survive A and this country lost a lot of its most promising youngsters that way—and how are you feeling, dear teacher?

Wives Avoid Home Course

Either GI's are not wary of their wives' biscuit-making ability, or the ladies themselves are over-confident in the kitchen, a New Orleans homemaking teacher had implied in a statement.

The city's public schools have offered homemaking courses absolutely free for several months, said Miss Jeanne Roy, general director of the courses, but nobody seems interested.

Inducements included offers to conduct classes in private homes and arrangements to schedule classes at the pupils' convenience, she reported, but even these failed to bring out the wives of the servicemen.

WORLD PRAYER DAY FRIDAY

Marion Observance To Be Held at 2 P. M. in Prospect St. Methodist Church.

Mrs. J. B. Holloway, chairman of the World Day of Prayer committee, in Marion county, has announced that the theme for this year's service, in which the people of about 70 countries all over the world will participate next Friday, will be "The Things That Make for Our Peace." The World Day of Prayer is sponsored by the United Council of Church Women and the Marion Council of Church Women locally.

Observance of this inter-denominational, inter-racial, international service will begin west of the Date Line in the Fiji Islands and will move eastward as the day progresses, until it reaches the Eskimaus on St. Lawrence island off the coast of Alaska, 30 miles east of the Date Line.

In proclaiming the first Friday in Lent as World Day of Prayer in Ohio, Governor Frank J. Lausche called on all persons to participate in the call to prayer and to be mindful of the fact that 'more things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of.'"

In his proclamation, Governor Lausche, in urging the public to prayer on the designated day, declared, "The church has a significant and effective role in the days and years that lie before us—days and years of transition from war toward lasting peace and genuine fellowship amongst all people regardless of race, nationality or creed.

The service in Marion will be held in the Prospect Street Methodist church Friday at 2 p. m.

Sponsored in Ohio since 1920 by the Women's Department of the Ohio Council of Churches, World Day of Prayer was last year observed by 806 community groups in the state.

Members of the Marion County World Day of Prayer Committee are: Mrs. R. G. Augenstein and Mrs. E. C. Klutey.

The Son of the Living God

A Sermonette

By REV. H. M. McADOW

Pastor of Wesley Methodist Church.

Text—Matt. 16:16: 'Thou art the Christ, the son of the living God."

ONE of the most meaningful conversations that took place between Jesus and his disciples, recorded in St. Matthew the 16th chapter, verses 13 to 18: "When Jesus came into the coasts of Caesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples, saying, whom do men say that I the Son of Man am? And they said, some say that thou art John the Baptist, some Elias, and others, Jermias, or one of the prophets. He saith unto them, but whom say ye that I am? And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ the Son of the living God. And Jesus answered and said unto him, Blessed art thou Simon Bar-jona: for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven. And I say also unto thee, that thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it."

Sometimes the question is asked, "Why was it that so many people in the day of our Lord's earthly life—that so few of them recognized him as the Son of God? Especially when he left behind him, everywhere he went, such a beautiful record of service to his fellowman — healing the sick, causing the lame to walk—the blind to see—and speaking peace to the troubled hearts or forgiving those cursed by sin. Certainly God's grace and power was very evident in his life from day to day that it seems should have set him apart in the thinking of men.

However, we should remember that we stand in a privileged place over and above the contemporaries of Jesus, we are able to see through the recorded life of Christ, his relationships to both God and man from the manger to the resurrection morning. Too, in those days learning was limited, and superstition was rampant, and fears enslaved the minds of men and of course there was no New Testament.

We appreciate the insight of Peter on this occasion when he said, "Thou art the Christ the Son of the living God." His recognition of Jesus constituted undoubtedly a great spiritual experience in his life for he saw in Christ more than a mere wonder worker or a healer of men's bodies—he saw that day—the Christ in his true relationship to God.

Today we have little difficulty believing in the historical Christ who lived and taught among men and who went about doing good. But to understand Christ in right relationship to God and our own hearts is an entirely different thing. When we can say with Peter, not alone from an historical standpoint believing in Christ, but emanating from the depths of our hearts—"Thou art the Christ the Son of the living God." There is something that takes place within our souls—Christ then becomes an ever present, living reality, an experience of the human heart.

Then we know that flesh and blood has not revealed this unto us but our heavenly Father and thus we become true members of the universal church a part of Christ's Kingdom here and now.

For two thousand years these words have rung down through the centuries—the same question as of old—"Whom do men say that I the Son of man am?"—Men are still divided in their opinions—some say one thing and some another—not willing perhaps to accept his authority as the Son of God. We know that Christ is not divided so that he can be shared by ever opposing philosophy of life—but we do know that when we accept him in simple faith—we discover that he is the very life of God in man—yes truly the Son of God—all humanity then finds in him a common meeting place where all can worship. Jesus said let us never forget, "The Father and I are one and again he said "He that hath seen me hath seen the Father and still again he said, "Believe me that I am in the Father, and the Father is in me."

We believe then that God is like Christ and who is it then that could turn from Christ and say, "I find nothing in him that appeals to me"; i.e. when we come to truly know him in his relation to mankind. It is only natural when Christ comes into our hearts and lives there would be a burning desire to serve him for he is not only the way of God, he is God incarnated in human form. No wonder the hymn writer broke forth with these words:

O Master let we walk with Thee
In lowly paths of service free;
Tell me Thy secret; help me bear
The strain of toil, the fret of care.

May each of us, who may read these words, have this same faith as Peter, where we can see through to the real Christ, the one who stands infinitely higher than any historical conception we may have of Him—yes see through to the Christ, "That is the same yesterday, today, and forever." Just as infinite, as timeless and as eternal as God Himself—and who constantly bids us to come unto him—for as the Son of God He will share the burden of life with us and bring comfort to our hearts in every time of need.
